Sponsored by the

SINGAPORE COOPERATION PROGRAMME

under the

SINGAPORE COOPERATION PROGRAMME TRAINING AWARD/
SMALL ISLAND DEVELOPING STATES TECHNICAL COOPERATION PROGRAMME

to be conducted by the

SINGAPORE E-GOVERNMENT LEADERSHIP CENTRE
NATIONAL UNIVERSITY OF SINGAPORE

---

Singapore Cooperation Programme

Singapore has provided technical assistance to other developing countries since the 1960s. As a country whose only resource is its people, Singapore believes that human resource development is vital for economic and social progress. Singapore itself has benefited from training provided by other countries and international organisations.

In 1992, the Singapore Cooperation Programme (SCP) was established to bring together under one framework the various technical assistance programmes offered by Singapore. Through the SCP, the range and number of training programmes were increased to share Singapore's development experience with other developing countries.

To date, Singapore has sponsored training courses and study visits for over 106,000 officials from more than 170 countries. The SCP is managed by the Technical Cooperation Directorate of the Singapore Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

Singapore e-Government Leadership Centre

The Singapore e-Government Leadership Centre (eGL) was established in 2006 at the Institute of System Science (ISS), National University of Singapore, with the objective of providing world-class training, research and consulting in the domain of e-Government. Its founder members include the National University of Singapore (NUS), Institute of Systems Science (ISS), Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy (LKYSPP) and Infocomm Development Authority (IDA).

eGL has successfully combined the leadership and domain expertise of its stakeholders to create a unique value proposition of practice-based, content rich training materials embedded with policy, planning, innovation and implementation experiences to yield a comprehensive training curriculum.

Course Objectives

This course aims to illustrate the approach adopted in Singapore to achieve successful healthcare outcomes as well as consider the challenges and emerging threats and opportunities faced by the nation. It will further provide participants with insights into Singapore's health ecosystem, policy and regulatory frameworks for community health management, including the role of data and technology in achieving service and quality improvements.

Synopsis

This course will provide participants with a better understand of Singapore's efforts to optimise the nation's integrated healthcare approach to issues such as community healthcare operations, chronic disease management, and the challenges associated with an ageing population. The course will focus on the role of data and technology in achieving service and quality improvements in Singapore's current and future planned healthcare ecosystem.

Topics to be covered include:

- Overview of Singapore's Health Ecosystem.
- Health Trends, Achievements and Challenges.
- Managing an Ageing Population.
- Smart Nation: Smart Health.
- Health Technology and the Digitalisation of Healthcare.
- The Role of Data Insights in Health Management.
- Managing Electronic Medical Records.
- Healthcare Transformation.

Methodology

The fundamental design philosophy is "experiential learning". As such the curriculum is carefully designed with lectures, experience sharing, peer-to-peer learning, discussions, and site visits to ensure maximum participation and diversity of engagement for the participants such that the key learning points are entrenched well.

Duration

The course will be held from 19 to 23 September 2016.
