

Course Overview:

This training program aims to enhance knowledge of concept and approach in various aspects of the computer comprising the assembling techniques of a complete functioning system unit using the latest version of operating system. Participants shall be trained to improve their knowledge and ability in networking, basic security, hardware, software and basic structured cabling.

In networking, participants are required to acquire skills in the various levels of networking system, from the basic design consideration, planning and implementation, managing the network system from various resources up to performing the first level of troubleshooting and maintenance.

This training program can be considered as a skill upgrading or retraining program especially to those involved in less relevant industries or training provider personnel. This course can be considered as a countermeasure approach to human capital development process to maintain sustainability in economic expansion

Course Objectives:

- To provide participants with ample knowledge of computer networking technologies to design and build computer network.
- To enable participants with the ability to apply the network administration and configure the web server environment for real application.
- To enable participants to manage and maintain the network system using various resources and performing the first level troubleshooting.

COURSE MODULE

Background of the Malaysian Technical Cooperation Program (MTCP)

The Malaysian Technical Cooperation Program (MTCP) was first initiated at the First Commonwealth Heads of Government Meeting (CHOGM) for Asia Pacific Region in Sydney in February 1978. It was officially launched on 7 September 1980 at the Commonwealth Heads of State Meeting in New Delhi to signify Malaysia's commitment to South-South Cooperation, in particular Technical Cooperation among Developing Countries (TCDC). In line with the spirit of South-South Cooperation, Malaysia - through the MTCP - shares its development experiences and expertise with other developing countries. To date, MTCP has extended its recipient of countries to 143 developing nations for training within its ten (10) key areas. Since its inception, more than 32,000 participants from 143 recipient countries have been directly trained under MTCP.

Objectives of MTCP:

- To share Malaysia's development experience with other countries;
- To strengthen bilateral relations between Malaysia and other developing countries;
- To promote South-South cooperation (SSC);
- To promote technical cooperation among developing countries (TCDC)

TRAINING INSTITUTE:

JAPAN MALAYSIA TECHNICAL INSTITUTE (JMTI)

The Japan Malaysia Technical Institute (JMTI) situated in the state of Penang, Malaysia is given the responsibility to provide a post-secondary training and tertiary technology education to supplement the shortage of workforce, and to be the ladder for existing skill workforce to upgrade and further their vocational training and education to the highest standards and achievements towards meeting the skilled manpower requirements in high technology industries and vision 2020.

JMTI offers advanced courses in Engineering Technology comprises of five (5) main fields of study which are Computer, Electronic, Mechatronic, Manufacturing and Precision Machining. The main objective of JMTI is to produce well-trained industrial technologist with engineering knowledge and high technical skill especially in the field of engineering which prepares the trainees to adapt and face the challenges of rapid growing technology in line with the advancement and changes of globalization.
