CONTAINER DEPOT AND LOGISTICS ASSOCIATION

Singapore Cooperation Programme

Singapore has provided technical assistance to other developing countries since the 1960s. As a country whose only resource is its people, Singapore believes that human resource development is vital for economic and social progress. Singapore itself has benefited from training provided by other countries and international organisations.

In 1992, the Singapore Cooperation Programme (SCP) was established to bring together under one framework the various technical assistance programmes offered by Singapore. Through the SCP, the range and number of training programmes were increased to share Singapore's development experience with other developing countries.

To date, Singapore has sponsored training courses and study visits for over 115,000 officials from more than 170 countries. The SCP is managed by the Technical Cooperation Directorate of the Singapore Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

Container Depot and Logistics Association

The Container Depot and Logistics Association is a logistics and transport association in Singapore. The aim of the Association is to provide assistance to members and players in the industry at large. Through working with other logistics associations and government agencies, the Association has helped to enhance the working methods and relationships of the port operators and the land transport businesses.

The Training Centre of the Association was established in 2007. The Centre provides various customs, logistics, transport and safety related courses for the industry. It has also launched various systems to help improve the operation process of both the container truckers (originally the Container Tracking System (CTS) and now the electronic Container Trucking System (eCTS), as well as workflow process via the Container Management System (CMS).
