Sponsored by the

SINGAPORE COOPERATION PROGRAMME

under the

SINGAPORE COOPERATION PROGRAMME TRAINING AWARD

to be conducted by the

SINGAPORE LAND AUTHORITYSingapore Cooperation Programme

Singapore has provided technical assistance to other developing countries since the 1960s. As a country whose only resource is its people, Singapore believes that human resource development is vital for economic and social progress. Singapore itself has benefited from training provided by other countries and international organisations.

In 1992, the Singapore Cooperation Programme (SCP) was established to bring together under one framework the various technical assistance programmes offered by Singapore. Through the SCP, the range and number of training programmes were increased to share Singapore's development experience with other developing countries.

To date, over 127,000 officials from more than 170 countries and territories have participated in our courses and study visits. The SCP is managed by the Technical Cooperation Directorate of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Singapore.

Course Objectives

This course aims to share Singapore's experience in the use of geospatial information and technology for planning and decision-making across sectors. It will guide participants to make useful recommendations for their countries' National (or Municipal) Spatial Data Infrastructures.

Synopsis

Topics to be covered include:

- Introduction to geospatial information and technology, its global trends and good practices
- Overview of Singapore's National Spatial Data Infrastructure, GeospatialSG
- Policies, technologies and capacity-building initiatives for the management, sharing and use of geospatial information
- Geospatial analytics for various planning applications
